If the remedy suggesting the personality investigate matters, he can discover see the feasible, it is to be hoped it will repeat the size of the sound of the size of of our people. The story is that Gen. Halleck replied, in effect, that the cause of the stanglet of our troops was on account of the bravery and desperation with which the rebel troops fought the battle; that the cause of the surprise was the excellent generalship of Beancagard and Johnston; and that he (Gen. H.) trusted the President would cause both these officers to be court-inartialled and cash; lered. There are those who ought to know, who pretend to believe there is some truth in the story after all.

Last week a young lady and her mother passed through here on their way from Nashville to Maniphis, with a safe conduct from General Huell. They were bitterly secession, and as they passed through evidently were on the look out for every possible item of information. They braged much of what Beauregard and his army had done and would do in the future. New Your, May 5.—The Tribme's correspondence says we have news from Richmond via Fredericksburg, of importance. The popie of the rebel capital are panie-stricken. The wealthy climes are packing up their furniture and sending it into the country. This important measure will relieve the Administration of any international embarrasements, and largely tend to restore the estenic cordial between the sections of the country.

The Senate Finance Committee have determined to report on the tax bill to-morrow or Tuesday at the farthest. They have been unable to make many important changes contemplated, and will probably leave whisky and to become untouched. It is a singular fact, worthy of note in Congress, that no remonstrance from any quarter has been made against a high tariff upon these articles, but the dealers and manufacturers are all in favor of placing it at the highest figure. This will probably be done.

TO BROKERS IN FLOUR. said that the Confederacy was about played out, and that if New Orleans was really taken, she had no looger any interest in the matter, as all she had was there; that it was a great plty that they had ever attempted to hold Virginia, and the other non-growing cotton States, and that ahe said-to Mr. Dr. Gynnes, (daughter of Col. Jas. Taylor, U. S. Comusissary General of Substauce,) who was very anxious to get to Washington, where she has one of her children, no to give herself any trouble, but only to stay where she was and when the Tankees came to Richmond she could go.

The coachman says that Mr. and Mrs. Davis have all their books, clothing and pictures packed up, ready to move off; that there is much outspoken Union feeling in Richmond; that, having been a waiter in a hotel there, he knows all the Union mem of the place; and that the Tankees are looked for with much pleasure, more by the whites than even the colored people. Confederate money is not taken when it can be avoided. Mrs. Davis haveled where the confederate not. Many of the Richmond people wish the Union troops to come, as they are said starred out. The bank and government property is all packed up ready for removal to Daville, near the North Carolina line.

Gen. Johnston did not think they would succeed at Yorktown. The coachman overheard the rebel officers say if they failed at Yorktown. d GRAIN, AND PRODUCE GENERALLY—If you wish to run in dear your it is an office, you can have you can be an opportunity at a low rate. They stated that they had that they are minus horses. They stated that they had that they are made and supposed it had all have carried on this war, is due to their neg-lect of this means of information. The idea can hardly be avoided, that some of our re-pulses and surprises, and our delays and inac-tion from exaggerating the force, intrench-ments and guns of the enemy, might have two minus horses. They stated that they had lost their regiment and supposed it had all been captured. Their appearance was ludicrous in the extreme, and they met with jeers on all sides as they filed off through the main body of troops to the rear. It appears that the cavality, when first sent for ward, got within a mile or two of Purdy, the enemy sent up a couple of rockets. This caused the force to fall back, and no doubt in the confusion and darkness of night the squad was left behind, and most probably had a narrow escape from being "gobbled" by the secesh.

Finding the expedition had probably done all it had been sent out to accomplish, I proposed to a gentleman, a correspondent of an army approach within hearing of our ungnarded camp, and there bivouac for the cannot said manuacturers or this city purforth, through the Board of Trade, a plan which proposed a specific impost on a few staple invaries, as they may be called, a tax of one per cent. on manufacturers' sales, and of one half of one per cent on mercantile sales. The same general principles were resolved upon in Boston, with the important addition of a plan of collection by stamps, which would dispense with an immense amount of machinery and expense.

The mercantile interest of New York and Boston have gone farther than was proposed here in the taxation of mercantile sales, both elities choosing to place the tax on such sales at the same rate as the sales of manufactures are taxed—a conclusion certainly javorable to the general interests of thiscity. It is very liberal in the mercantile interest of the great cuties to offer this rate, and the representatives of the interior and the West onght to accept it cagerily, as we believe they will.

The parties who have pressed this simplified form of taxation on Congress have framed a bill embodying its principles, and hope the 8-nate Committee will in autostance adopt it.
They could not better discharge the great duty and a half of the track.

I further learn that Gen. Pope advanced yesterday from Monterey to the rebel position in the ridge, a mile and a half beyond, where he found the rebels strongly posted with slege cuns in position. They fired upon him, and he retired to Monterey. Tals is undoubtedly

[From our own Correspondent.]
Washington, May 9, 1862. A copy of the New Orleans Price Current.

mbracing a summary of the year's business nding March 1, 1862, has been sent to the vary Department by one of the officers of the Gulf squadron. It appears from this journal that the exports of cotton from New Orleans that the exports of cotton won New Oreals for the past year have been eleven thousand bales, against one end a haif million bales the previous year. The exports from all the Southern power have been only thirteen thousand bases, against more than two millions the preions year. Exports of tobacco from New Orleans nothing, against seventeen thousand hogeheads last year. Imports—Specie, noth-ing, against $12,000,000 the previous year; cof-fee, 300 bags, against 250,000 bags; salt, noth-

New Orleans has not been efficiently block-deed?

The debate which has been in progress three days in the House of Representatives, on the report of the Committee on Gevernment Contracts, has become somewhat acrimonious. While this is to be regretted, it is difficult to see how it could be avoided after the whole-sale charge made by Mr. Stevens, that the Committee had perpetrated more frauds than they had detected. The assailants of the Committee have impugned their report in three particulars: First, as to Alexander Cummings; second, as to Augustas A. Sacehi; third, as to Simon Stevens. These three alleged errors, be it remembered, are all that have been found in a volume of over eleven hundred pages.

The charge sgainst the Committee as to Alexander Cummings is that Cummings wrote, "There [was] retained by Messra, Dix, Blatch-lord and Opdyke one hundred and forty thous sand dollars," and that the Committee published defense that accidentally omitted the word "was."

The charge sgainst the committee published it, "I have retained," etc. Well, Cammings says in his published defense that all the testimony printed before writing that all the testimony printed before writing that all the testimony printed before writing that all the testimony printed before which they are say mistake the public printers and the desired the state while fring the was any mistake the public printers and the public printers and the public printers are as possible.

The committee was my mistake the public printers and the public printers and the public printers are as possible. Mr. Cummings must divide it between them selves. But in point of fact Mesers. Dix, Blatchford and Opdyke were merely the de-positories of Mr. Cummings, holding the oney subject to his draft, and hence it make o difference which way we read it. Mr. Cummings' defenders made a great parade over the fact (as alleged) that that gentleman's accounts had all been settled satisfactorily,

The charge relating to Sacchi is one con-cerning identity merely. Mr. L C. Woods, dilitary Secretary to Gen. Fremont, directed Capt Turnley (Quartermaster) to make a con-tract with Mr. A. A. Sacchi, of New York, for Senate Committee will in substance adopt it. They could not better discharge the great duty they have in haid, nor better satisfy the interests of this city and 8 side, at least. We have urged these general principles with all our power, while the bill was in the hands of the House Committee, and every reason than stated relains its failest force at this moment. Perhaps the greatest single item of relief will be the change from three per cent., levied on all manufactures, to one per cent., thus averting a danger to the industry of the country, which we know to be far greater than the House Committee could be led to bethere. A Deserter from the Yorktown Army.

[Correspondence Phaladelphia Inquirer.]

A deserter came over from an Alabama regiment, a few days ago. He was well clothed and a fine looking young man. His story was chear and explicit, and his face bore the expression of an honest man; when he had concluded, he was asked what papers he had with him then. Drawing from an inside pocket a greased envelope, he took out three or four letters in a female hand, and a certificate of bounty due "for fifty dollars". "Those letters are from my mother; that scrip I received for emisting; besides the clothes on my back it is all I ever received. I refused to enset it is all I ever received. I refused to enset it is all I ever received. I refused to the made, and knowing I would then be exiled on and put in some menial position, my mother ead Go now; take the bounty moner and go with them to the front, but never fire a gun at a man who is fightling under the good old flag; when an opportunity offers change your position and come back under the old bonner to your mother, who will live for you, and pray highly for your safety. Be cautions, 'ebe said,' and trust no one matil sade in the Union army; then tell your story frank by, and it will all be right.' The information he brought over is of great value. His name and the regiment we omit for the present, but hope he can soon return to his devoted mother, and for the baisance of his life be allowed to pursue his vocation (he is a mechanic) in peace. If there is one thing we should be present, and for the baisance of his life be allowed to pursue his vocation (he is a mechanic) in peace. If there is one thing we should be lessableg of a free Government sufficiently to lay down his life, if need be, in saving it for his children. It is assumed that the questions thus raised may be thrown into the courts, and that we are to have another Dred Scott affair, but as yet it is not known what the masters propose to do in the matter. They claim that the act might have been made more palastable to them, of which there can be no doubt; but as Congress decided to frame it as it stands, and as there are as good lawyers in that body as out of it, it is not to be presumed that they did not take care to make the law hold water. At all events, none of the objections said to be taken by the distinguished barrister above named go to the pith and marrow of the act, and no cent in Christendom, not even the United States Supreme Court, the cittade of elaviry, can recall the boon granted to the subjects of the statute. MARK SELOKER SUDDEN DEATH OF CAPT. HULBURD.—Capt. and took a room, for the purpose of receiving medical attendance. About 5 o'clock yesterday morning he came down to the office from his room, and informed the clerk that he was dying. Dr. Winer, the regimental surgeoff was immediately sent for, and on his arrival placed him in a warm bath, and then stepped down into the office to order a boy up to help dress him. When the boy went into his room, he found the Captain dead in the bath. The Corouer held an inquest, and the verdict was death from strangulation, caused by disease of the throat. Capt. Halburd's age was 38. He leaves a wife and two children at Columbus, Obio. He entered the service in June last, and was at the head of his company at the surrender of Lexington, Mo. He was a resident of Morris, in this State, when the war broke out, having been in the banking business. He was a popular and excellent officer, and his comrades sincerely mourn his untimely death.

The remains of Capt. Hulburd were taken from the Termout House last evening at 7 o'clock, by a battalion of the Irish Brigade, eyed to the depot of the Pittsburgh and Fort.

That we deeply sympathize with his and family in their sudden bereave-body at Madlson, it will be placed in state until Thursday, when funeral obsequies of a very imposing character will take place.

From Perry H. Smith, Esq., who accompanied the body from Cairo, we learn the following particulars of its recovery. It was first elseovered on Sanday week, at a point about two mites below a place called Britts Landing, and supposed to be from fifty to sky miles below Pittsburg Landing, by a segro and some children who were playing on the bank of the river. The magro took from the Governor's person his watch and about 4000 in money, retaining the watch was a pressure of the river.

In Memory of Carlos Haven.

The largest and most impressive meeting of the bar we have ever attended convened at the rooms of the Law Institute yesterday morning, to give expression to the feelings of the legal profession upon the occasion of the death of the late lamented Carlos Haven, Eq. Upon motion, Judge Geo. Manierre was called to the chair, Judges Van H. Higgins and Robert S. Wilson, Vice Presidents, and John Lyle King, Secretary. Upon taking the chair. Judge Manierre

The members of the bar were not aware of Mr. Haven's illness until Saturday. I went to the house that day at twelve o'clock, but I did not eee him, not wishing to disturb him, HEMARKS OF JUDGE R. S. WILSON.

I feel as if it were my duty to say one word shout our deceased friend. I am so full that I can say but s word. In the close relations I have occupied towards Mr. Haven for the last six years, I have always found him a faithful public officer, determined slaway to do his duty, and shile he prosecuted parties that he believed the public good required to be prosecuted, with great energy and vigor, I have never known an officer who was more ready and willing to exercise his sympathies towards those who had committed crime, drawn into it, perhaps, from misfortune of various kinds. He was never cowed from doing his duty by power, and never failed to extend that sympathy that was due to the unfortunate; and, in fact, I have never known a man who was, more than he, guided by conscientionsness in all that pertained to his duty as a public officer. Of course my relations with him were of the most confidential character. I probably knew him as well as any man in Chlesgo.

more than be, planes by conscient our more than be, planes by considerable and all that pertained to his duty as a public officer. Of course my relations with him were of the most confidential character. I probably knew him as well as any man in Chleago. When I celled at his house on Thursday last, for the first time that I had seen him, I made up my mind his time was short for this world. His physicians had instructed that no persons should be permitted to see him, but he told hi wife he wanted me to come in. I then saw him at different times till he departed this life. I may be permitted to repeat one remark—the last one I heard from his lips—showing where his heart was. I asked him if there was amything he wished to say. Shaking his head, he began to speak of McClellan and Yorktown. His mind wandered in a manner that indicated in our conversations. While he was a good man and a Christian, he also had a remarkable love of courtry, and exhibited it in these his last remarks in his last moments. I can add no more of thim, only to say that he was one of the noblest works of God, "an honest man." REMARKS OF MR. ASAY.

Brief but appropriate and eloquent remarks were also made by Messrs. S. B. Perry, Raw-ley, McIlroy, Ingalls, Westcott and Larned, Mr. Perry accompanying his remarks with the motion that when the meeting adjourned, it adjourns to meet at half-past twelve, for the purpose of going in procession with the remains to the cars, and that the Chair appoint pall bearers. In accordance with the motion, the following gentlemen were appointed to act in that capacity: Messrs. Porry, Larned, Wanghop, Miller, Asay, Bentley, Williams, McGiroy, Hall, Stebbins, Ingalls, and Van Ar-

Upon motion of Ald. White, the Council The funeral ceremonies took place at the late residence of the deceased, Rev. J. E. At the grave there was a large attendance of friends of the family, and in solemn silence, all that was mortal of Carlos Haven was lowered to its last resting place.

EARLY CLOSING OF STORES.-A dry goods EARLY CLOSING OF STORES.—A dry goods clerk sends us a letter requesting us to say a word in favor of the early closing of stores—say 6 o'clock in the evening. He says quite a number of merchants are in favor of the proposition, although some oppose it. We are of the opinion that if our shopkeepers would adopt this reform, they would find it not only to the advantage of their clerks, but their own. It is a mooted question whether the trade done, especially by dry goods men, after sarly candle light pays for the gas consumed, so that in an ecosomic point of view at least, the reform may be considered a desirable one. Let our shopkeepers try it.

the ceath of Mrs. Counter, which a few years ago at a very advance Coalter had, during many years her death, declared that she sho wes free when she died. For the ous to her death, declared that she should set her slaves free when she died. For this purpose she called in a near relative of hera, who was a lawyer, and employed him in writing out her will. Now, this lawyer, who resides in Frederickshurg, and is well known there, set a wishful eye upon these negroes. It seemed to him quite a desperate thing to see ninety-live will-conditioned elastics going out of the State. But, then, how could they be of any importance to him, or only but Lacy? He hit upon this expedient: He persuaded the sold lady to put it in her will that these negroes might have the choice of becoming free, or of selecting masters or mistresses from among her blood relations. There are so many her sizeralares to be traversed before Freedom can be reached, that it is not to be wondered if the alternative presented itself to this lawyer's mind as that likeliest to befall these ninety-five negroes.

But when the old lady was dead and the will was opened, Lacy was incomolable for the loss of these chattels. Until at length some legal Mephistopheles—and his tribe has not decreased in Fredericksburg—whispered into Lacy's ear that all was not lost. These negroes were by the will given their choice of freedom or masters; but by the laws of Virginia a slave, not being a citizen, had no right to choose.

staves, and express her determination to set them free. The Circuit Court austained Lacy's claim, and the matter was taken up to the Supreme Court of Virginia which also austained the law of the case—the ablest Judge on the beneh, R. C. L. Moncure, bringing in a minority opinion of great power against the flagrant wrong. His opinion was vehement and bold, and was all the more important because he resided on a harm but a short distance from Chatham.

When Lacy had thus defrauded these ninety—the human beings of their freedom, which without an exception they had decided to "choose," he had to complete the diabolical programme by selling them South, as he was airead to live within their reach.

It is to the credit of the Fredericksburgians that Lacy became very unpopular on account of this transaction. In a late effort to be elected to the robel Legislature he was utterly defeated, despite his wealth and connections. He then got an appointment as Aid to Gen. Smith, a shrewd old lawyer of Fredericksburg senarking that it was an ilinatration of Dr. Johnson's remark, that "patriotism is the last resort of secondrals."

on the 2d of April the Court Marilal con-ned for the trial of Timothy Webster as an enemy, Col. Nat. Taylor being President the same. -Lurking about the armies and for of the Confederate States of Amer First Specification-That on the 1st of April ear Richmond.

Second Specification—That about the 1st of uly, 1861, prisoner being an alien enemy and a the service of the United States, did lurk in, and around about the armies and fortifications f the Confederate States at Memphis, in the tate of Tennessee. ner was defended by Nance & Wil-ntroduced a number of witnesses specification not guilty. the War Department "shake in their jackets" by his revelations, but he made none up to his last hour. Learning on Monday night that there was no show for him, he became completely unnerved. He was carried to the Fair Grounds as early as six o'clock resterday moning, by Capt. Alexander, but prior to that time received a visit from Rev. Mr. Woodbridge. He asked the clergyman to read the Psaim of David, invoking vengeance on his enemies. He refused, and Webster grew indignant, causing the clergyman to take an eaved nere to washington, where the opiod, and the answers received were n the same way, thus being used as ev-gainst the parties, as many of them sinst the parties, as many of them hund to their cost by subsequent arrest carceration in Northern forts. Suspice is first excited against the prisoner by ple of his evidence against Lewis and Sculd they let the cat out of the bag on her their conviction. Mrs. Webster, we arrested slong with her husband as a still at Castle Godwin, but will no doubt at out of the Confederacy. Webster is at man exceuted here as a spy. Perhaps build have been better had the business be minenced at an earlier day.
